

QUICK TIPS

Ever wondered how much you are contributing to FamilySearch Family Tree? It is possible to track the individual contributions that you have made!

This feature is available on FamilySearch.org as well as both iOS and Android versions of the Family Tree App. On the website go to the home page, sign in, select Family Tree, and from the drop-down menu tap My Contributions.

To find the My Contributions feature on the FamilyTree App, open the app, and tap the More icon in the bottom right corner (iOS) or the 3-bar menu in the top left corner (Android). This will bring up a menu of options. Tap My Contributions.

When you go to My Contributions you will see 3 different areas: Stats, My Changes and Private People. Take a look at Stats. Stats tracks and compares what you have added to Family Tree since 2012. Remember, Family Tree came online in 2012 so it does not show years previous to that year.

Your total contributions are shown and this is further divided into sources, memories and people you have added. The example to the right shows people added since 2012 for one user of Family Tree.

Name	Changes	Date
 Milton Edgar Lucore 1859-1936 • LC3W-PSS	Source Attached	August 26, 2022
 Howard Raymond Lucore 1888-1959 • K4RB-PKX	Alternate Name Deleted	August 24, 2022
 Martha Aurilla Lucore 1928-2018 • LKQR-TWV	Source Attached	August 24, 2022
 Jeanne Beveridge Lucore 1921-1986 • K2TL-D9L	Source Attached	August 24, 2022

My Changes shows changes you have made in Family Tree and when you made them. The most recent changes are shown at the top. This is different than changes to people you are following. Only the user who entered the information about a living person into Family Tree can see or change it. You will find the people you have added under Private People.

This is very much a feel-good opportunity if you have been contributing. If you haven't, maybe it will give you the nudge to get started.

For more detailed information on My Contributions go to the FamilySearch Blog.
